The school bell rings and term classes come to an end, leaving kids with a void to fill during the holidays. As a kids activity club owner, you might be wondering how to keep the energy alive and the enthusiasm high during those breaks. Look no further – holiday camps are the answer!

In this guide, we'll explore the game-changing benefits of running holiday camps at your sports club and why it's a win-win for both you and your young participants.

Make Extra Money & Diversify Your Income Streams

Let's talk about the financial perks – running holiday camps is a fantastic opportunity to generate extra revenue for your sports club. While term classes provide a steady income, holiday camps offer a chance to tap into a different market and diversify your income streams.

Families are often on the lookout for engaging activities during the holidays, and they're willing to invest in quality experiences for their children. By providing an exciting and enriching holiday camp experience, you not only cater to the demand but also contribute to the financial health of your sports club.

Do some research into your target market and discover what camps parents are currently asking for. There could be a gap that your new camp could fill!

Boost Skills, Foster Teamwork, & Beat Boredom

Perhaps the biggest benefit to running camps is the incredible value it brings to the kids that participate. Holiday camps aren't just an extension of your regular classes; it's an opportunity to boost children's skills in a fun and interactive way. Through collaborative activities, group challenges, and team-building exercises, children not only develop physical skills but also learn the importance of working together towards a common goal. And let's face it – bored kids can be a handful for parents during the holidays. By offering a fun-filled and purposeful activity, you're not just keeping the kids engaged; you're giving parents a much-needed break and peace of mind!

Run Tailored, Themed Classes to Capture the Spirit of the Season

Holiday camps provide an exciting canvas for creativity, allowing you to tailor your classes to the time of year. Whether it's an Easter extravaganza, a Halloween spookfest, or a festive Christmas celebration, themed classes add an extra layer of fun and excitement to your camp. This not only keeps the activities fresh and dynamic but also makes your sports club a go-to destination for holiday-themed experiences.

What are some fun camp themes you could consider offering?

- Focus on the season: is it Spring, Summer, Autumn or Winter?
 - Focus on any upcoming holidays: is it nearly Easter? Halloween? Christmas?
 - An extension of your sport: for example, dance and gymnastics often go together very well
 - Classic holiday camps: use classic camps games like water fights, film nights and ice breakers
 - Specialise in a skill: for example, if you run football sessions during term times, perhaps you can offer a goalie camp
 - Focus on a new age group: camps can be a good opportunity to extend the ages you teach – maybe you can offer classes for toddlers?
